Description:

This T-51 kit was built to ¾ scale to replicate the iconic P-51 Mustang from World War II. This was built as a project by the owner with a mechanic assisting in the build. It boasts a new Honda Powerplant V-6 engine and has a low total time of 16 hours. The owner is selling it due to getting on in years, and is hoping to find the right buyer to find as much joy in this aircraft as he has. Whether you want to simulate wartime maneuvers or be the main attraction of every fly-in, this unique replica is the bird for you.

Exterior:

The aircraft sports an authentic military-era paint scheme. Its sleek silver fuselage is adorned with striking black and white stripes, featuring a bold white star encased in a black circle. At the front is a Vagabond 6, Soldiers in the Sky decal. The wings mirror this design, also in silver, proudly displaying the iconic star and stripes. The registration number stands out in black, while American flags grace both sides of the tail, adding a patriotic touch. A standout feature is the vibrant red nose accentuated by a black propeller with distinctive yellow tips, completing the aircraft's striking appearance.
